

In Hoc Signo Vinces

AWD PROGRAM

Volume I

updated 02/22/2020

On a bright and sunny typically Californian day in the year of 1974, a young American revolutionary by the name of Joseph Tommasi declared the statement "The White race has lost". The questionable and seemingly defeatist position that Mr. Tommasi and his organization, the National Socialist Liberation Front, is one of the many factors that lead to the black listing of him, James Mason, and many others formerly involved in Rockwell's American Nazi Party. After the death of Rockwell, the movement experienced its downfall due to incompetency and over saturation of intellectual mumbo jumbo as an excuse to be inactive and to "tone down" their message, turning the American Nazi Party (now called the National Socialist White People's Party at this point) into a conservative movement with a Swastika. This, in turn, created splinter groups from disenchanted or other "black listed" individuals who amounted to absolutely nothing.

There's a reason why we remember Rockwell, Tommasi, and Matt Koehl. And there's a reason why we don't remember any of the splinter groups, such as the White Workers Party and many other insignificant failures. We remember those who stand out because of their victories and their failures. We remember the mistakes, the failings, and the minor successes. We remember the powerful and riveting speeches by Rockwell, the sadistic lone-wolf actions carried out by Tommasi, and we especially remember Matt Koehl for his inability to run a competent Party.

This brings us to the present day, and the purpose for this publication. First and foremost: We normally reject (and despise) movement programs or manifestos, as people tend not to follow them, or follow them at their leisure or convenience. However, due to the more obscure nature of our work, some operatives more autonomous than others, and because of the internet speeding up the process of recruitment and spread of information, this is a necessary formality. The fact that this piece had to be written is not a reflection on Atomwaffen Division itself, but a reflection on how white men have (and are) indeed lost, as Tommasi said. White men just have not retained the discipline to carry out a successful movement, and this is something that just cannot be restored without a total break away from everything that conditions us to be docile consumers. To "fight back" simply cannot happen while we allow these conveniences exist in our lives and everyone's fridges are full. Sounding Defeatist? It's realistic. To successfully break away from System conditioning and becoming truly free (or an "Outlaw") is the intention of Atomwaffen Division for the individuals who are involved. Without further ado, the program is not only mandatory reading for recruits, but mandatory understanding.

We are not a membership organization or "movement"

To those still within the framework of this "movement" or "mass-strategy" program, this may be a bit hard to comprehend however it will become clear once the dogma has been removed once and for all. Anyone on Earth can be "Atomwaffen Division", for the premise is an operation that exists to antagonize within the framework of the group, with varied networks and resources. On the ground level: Anyone with the appropriate self-determination can print their own fliers. Anyone can assemble a uniform, patch or mask. This cannot be stopped, and there is no reason to stop it. Atomwaffen Division has no "membership list" or "card carrying official membership", therefore the operative is not a "member".

We engage in lone wolf/small cell/leaderless resistance activity only, which leaves responsibility and discretion to the level of the operative, alone. No one needs to know what we're doing since we will never reveal that. Everything we do is only on a need to know basis; from onlookers to the operative alike. We are not interested in public alliances with any of the "movements" out there, as we dare declare our self-reliance upon our own foundation. We have nothing to prove to anyone, we have (and will continue to) infiltrate all aspects of society. We can be your neighbor, mailman, secretary, best friend, etc. We are everywhere, and we are no one.

AWD is creating the type of man capable surviving the Kali Yuga

For those who know the AWD nucleus, the ones who preserve AWD, there are perks that come with responsibility. AWD is structured in such a way, so it can offer something to the novice, the accomplished, and anything in between. Someone involved with our program is rewarded based on whatever groundwork they lay down. Ideas have to be tested in the real world in order to ascertain their truthful/usefulness. Our program offers no step-by-step life plan (as conditions are subject to change). All Beginners must read foundational Fascist texts and of course, SIEGE. One must not just read it, but understand it well enough to be able to answer random questions about its key principles in an informal Q&A session. In order to adapt to ever-changing conditions, many of the other sources provided will be from other schools of philosophy or ideological variations (often opposed). These other materials are not valuable based on the merit of philosophical content but on their strategic substance. As is with the law of the universe, we must all become adaptable. It is no longer 1933, and going back will get you nowhere. It's a dog eat dog world out there, and one must be willing to tear anything and everything apart limb from limb! The operative must divorce himself from the dogma that holds him in the past. At that point he must be ready to strike out alone and forge his own way. The man that is strongest alone is the prime recruit!

Religious Devotion

Let us not misunderstand, we are not only in a dangerous battle against the Jews but with our very own. So we must learn to take responsibility for the sins of our race, in order to advance ourselves further in our struggle. This is not a matter of religion or politics as we know it, but a matter of survival against our encroaching enemy. In regard to the question of religion, once you put on your uniform or carry out your activities, you cease to be yourself. To wear the mask of death is to symbolically kick aside your ego, as you now represent another entity, more primal. Religion in a conventional sense means fuck all to the organization. We're in this for life or death, whether you believe in Jesus, Odin, Satan or any other deity. Our goals, our purpose of being in this mortal world is to continue where our predecessors failed. This society has left us all in the mud as it is falling apart, your race is in peril, and our salvation comes only through doomsday. In this pursuit of truth, the operative must meditate upon the coming hardship and to always go against the grain. It is In this mission that you must discover your religious fanaticism. We will not tolerate reactionary dogma that will contradict our collective mission. We want soldiers devoted to projecting the Aryan spirit and uncompromising total victory above all else.

The Manson Example

As already described, AWD provides knowledge, resources and capabilities toward an autonomous lifestyle. We are interested in dropping this System entirely, we do not need to be part of it or poison ourselves or our living space with Jewish depravity. What this means is; we want those who join us to make meaningful organic connections; finding friends and making lifelong comrades who they can comfortably band together with and leave behind the filth that surrounds us all. This is not saying you need a cabin in the woods with no electricity per-se, but what we advocate for is moving toward self-reliance as soon as possible, and there is a variety of ways to achieve this end. To move through this process takes time and commitment. We have members with many useful handy skills and resources that can help in this regard, and what we expect out of you is to have something of this nature to contribute. You are a product of your environment, and this is why we want to create our own environment.

Total Environment, the Aryan way of living

On top of the obvious things such as eating healthy and being in good shape, your own living space must reflect your inner spirit and encourage productivity. To name an example: Going to a thrift store, getting older classic European looking furniture or wearing clothing that isn't "the norm"/"fashionable" according to the trends/mass media but because it is practical. Perhaps you are an individual with a large library of information at your disposal and the discipline to read books cover to cover, for your own wisdom and insight. Maybe you live in an RV in the boonies, changing places to acclimate to frontier living. The same can also be said about pursuing careers or skilled trades. The majority of university diplomas are useless expensive pieces of paper that most often lands useless careers for the most useless people. This is what total environment is, rejecting this garbage standard the System wants you to live by (in a state of docile comfort and incompetence) and being within a living space that reflects your ambitions. You will spend the majority of your time living in this environment, so this needs to be your environment as this does have a real effect on you as a person and your mentality.

America is a sewer! We are proud traitors to the west!

America enjoys policing the world, and supporting monster-states such as Israel while draining resources from third world hell holes to fuel their rotten System. Commonly coined "Western values" are synonymous with classical liberal abstractions to pacify the masses. Why on Earth should we be "nationalists" to this? This applies to the founding fathers and the constitution as well. As respectable their actions (or noble their intentions) might have been, despite how agreeable sentiments of the constitution may be; we do not seek to resurrect any of it, as it was nothing more than a failed experiment that led us to our current paradigm. We believe in projecting ourselves forward and creating a new culture, new standard, new way of life. Any reflection of the old world is done while adapting to the time in which we live. In other words, no "American Nationalists". Nor are we regular nationalists, as America is not a nation (of ethnic identity): it is a country (a social foundation; a state). If ever, America was a nation, it is because of these poisonous values that it failed miserably. These civilizations are dead and have been dead for years. After World War II, all that was left was a gene pool, the white race. This is all that we have left and we must start back from year zero. This is American Futurism. Nationalism is dead, plain and simple.

We are Crazy Men of Destiny

No, goody-two-shoes. The world has enough self-important armchair tacticians and critics, and they're not worth a damn! We reject the over-use and imbalanced emphasis of intellectualism. We do not care for self-repressing puritan types either, if they are so timid and offended by every raunchy detail of life how can we expect them to survive, let alone be reliable? If you are to preserve your sanity in the midst of the madness, rigidity will do you no good. How can one live like our ancestors without any fun or experience in our lives? To make this point brief; we are seeking soldiers of the last battalion, those who are willing to embody the Kalki archetype within themselves instead of waiting around for him. We seek men of character and experience, those that are willing to test themselves and relish the struggle ahead. We must all accept the fact that society hates us, and we are all in this together, as fascists against the world! When the time comes, our race needs to form a line of skilled workers and predatory conquerors. It is time to drop the civil persona, and time to face the world as the monster they see in you.

We're not interested in illegal activities

The reality and conditions of revolution are totally unpredictable. A revolutionary act doesn't always mean to go full Brenton Tarrant. As recent history has shown, doing something illegal, in itself, will accomplish nothing other than putting you at the mercy of the cops who arrest you, and by default it will render you useless in a dungeon. We do not want that, and you most certainly do not want that. As stated throughout this program, we are doing the most revolutionary act by declaring "TO HELL WITH THIS SYSTEM" and taking those words to form. Petty crimes will not go anywhere, and the game will only change once the rule of law and order is rendered futile in the face of revolt. Now it's a matter of nature taking its course, and just letting go. As revolutionaries, our sole duty and our success is in continuance. Many of us may spend the rest of our lives helping our comrades and raising families with the possibility of collapse not coming in the interim but that will be a life worth living in the end.

“What have you done for the movement?”

We are not part of the “movement”, and nor does it reflect our aims as a collective. So to answer this question bluntly: we have done literally NOTHING for them and we will extend no resource for them by in large (as they surely would not show each other that same courtesy, let alone us). We will waste NO time on those that are unwilling to learn. That question in and of itself is a product of egotism and materialistic thinking. This narrative only proves to make a willing target for the entire opposition (including the US Government, particularly the alphabet agencies). This formula goes as follows in repetition: Announce protest in public (far enough ahead for the street-level opposition to organize), Showing the entire public an incredible set of weaknesses in organizing efforts, and getting into street-wide brawls/riots. All while this is taking place, the feds are waiting, taking tabs on speakers and participants, then the ADL/SPLC are writing down license plate numbers and doxxing the idiots not smart enough to wear a fucking mask. Ask yourself, is all of this worth it? In the long run? The money and resources spent toward these ends could be better put toward: property, munitions, or overall proper networking. Push aside these delusions of grandeur. If you are living a healthy lifestyle, holding yourself as an example of your race and eventually (if not already) having children, then you already have done far more for the future of your race than any of these “movements”.

“There is only the mind, the mind is everything. It is Buddha.
It is Christ. It is the Devil. It is God.”

On top of being American Futurists, it comes with the territory that we are all adherents to Universal Order. This basic philosophy means that every action that happens, everything that is invented or done all begins with the mind, and how can you hope to produce good results if your mind isn't clear and goals precise? We have removed all dogmas and System-think garbage that pollutes the minds of the common lemming and we have chosen to go back to our more instinctive nature. We have no use for counteractive or reactionary attitudes, as it only clouds judgment and detracts from the use of our full potential. Once you have become fully aware and removed system-conditioning, all you have left is the worldview, and this is what you must do. As Charles Manson said; “Read the history books backwards, all it's doing is cluttering your mind.”

All notions of left and right are a divide and conquer technique that only gets people distracted with stupid conflicts over the same trivial ideas that are spouted out by the system. Ideas that encourage more complaining one way or the other and never seeking to solve that petty issue. To extend legitimacy to one side is to also extend that same legitimacy to the politicians on the other side, as in the end: they are all exactly the same. These things are all meaningless to us now, we hate the right wing just as much as we hate the left wing. Essentially, it is impossible to "punch right" only because these are arbitrary terms that do not exist at all except for those who are still entranced by the binary political puppet show put up by the beast system. The only way that we are "RIGHT" is that everything else is WRONG.

How do we recruit the lemmings/normies?

We don't! In every society there will always be lemmings who are too helpless to do anything about the situation. Even if we did convince them, they would serve to be dead weight as they will not take that mighty oath declared by Adolf Hitler "I FIGHT". We don't need them, we are not interested in having dead weight within our ranks. It has always, in every revolution, been a small minority of crazy men who take back society by any means necessary, as these nobler instincts only exist within a small minority of modern white people, and a great many have had their instincts perverted or neutered by the Jews, and we intend to find these men of good character and set them on the correct path only.

Proper Opsec/Infosec

As an operative of the Atomwaffen Division, it is your responsibility to practice and maintain proper operational security (OPSEC) and Informational Security (Infosec). This means NO social media, this also means keeping friends/family in check: making sure that they don't put your photos on social media. If these things are a problem, then it is necessary to distance yourself from these types of people, as they serve only to compromise you, whether or not they realize it. This means clandestine operations, not out in the open. This means gauging strategy; the risk vs reward variable of operations. This means keeping your communications and electronics encrypted and secure. This means being careful about the words you say and to WHOM you say them to. Do not ALLOW for anyone to say anything that you wouldn't want to be questioned about. Think about it like this: "is this something I want read back to me in court?"

If fate decides for you to be publicly outed, arrested or any other similar misfortune; at least make them work hard for it! If you're outed, you will almost always have plausible deniability, and you must maintain a stubborn denial, depending on the information released. There is always room for error, and sometimes these things are out of our individual control. This is among the hazards of our work, it is important to face the possibility but protect this info as best as you can. If ever you are a doxxed operative, this makes it even more crucial for you to maintain proper OPSEC/INFOSEC measures, to cover your own ass. To neglect this practice is not only to put yourself in harms way, but also your comrades, your friends, and your family.

Keep Your Powder Dry

Don't worry! The end is coming. Nothing you can do will provoke it to come any faster, so I will say DON'T DO ANYTHING STUPID. We as a collective are not responsible for unwarranted and/or reckless actions taken by any live-wire (even vaguely) associated to us. We cannot allow ourselves or each other to fall victim to the system or its pigs. You may not live to see the day of final victory, but perhaps your children will. You will certainly preserve our kind and create the path that leads towards that end. The future will always be unpredictable, so don't cloud up your mind with these heroic "lets gun it out with the system" thoughts because it won't go the way you think! Just remember, Rome wasn't destroyed in a day! We don't want to be caught in the cogs of the machine when it all breaks, the objective is to outlast this madness. The System is in free fall, the machine is already in overdrive. All you have to do is let go.

Conclusion

Outlined in this program, is your rules of conduct. This is necessary where people should understand these fundamentals, yet disturbing that too many don't. We normally do not care about personal extracurricular activities, though you should be living an Aryan life and participating with your comrades in preparation to the end. If you do not fit our standards, plain and simple, we don't want you. We believe in quality over quantity. We are not interested in having "formal debates" or "diversity of thought" within this organization, as this is not some "think-tank" or an online forum/board. We have a strong sense of Camaraderie. The recruit must be willing to bring something to the table, as our collective goals are for the long term. (Simply being white and existing is not enough). Any questions about this can however be asked during the vetting process.
